ABSTRACT

This article consists of an exploratory study on the supply of Master of Business Administration (MBA) programs currently available in Chile and it describes some of their main features. It provides an overview of the programs, the type of establishments that offer them, their geographical location, the duration of the MBAs, the cost involved and the number of hours required by each option. The paper concludes with some reflections on the availability of information on this matter.